Information Resources Management Association

an international association serving information providers and users

www.irma-international.org

The Information Resource Management Association (IRMA), founded in 1988, is an international professional organization dedicated to furthering the professionalism of its members. For over 20 years, IRMA has been bringing together researchers, practitioners, academicians, and policy makers in information technology management. The diverse membership consists of professionals from over 50 countries worldwide.

The primary objective of IRMA is to assist organizations and professionals in enhancing the overall knowledge and understanding of effective information resources management in organizations worldwide. The mission of IRMA is accomplished largely through its variety of official journals of the association. All members of IRMA receive their choice of journal(s).
