End-User Computing: Concepts, Methodologies, Tools, and Applications

Steve Clarke
University of Hull, UK
Related Content

Learners at the Wheel: Novice Programming Environments Come of Age
www.irma-international.org/article/learners-wheel-novice-programming-environments/53807/

The Role of Trainer Behavior in End User Software Training
www.irma-international.org/article/role-trainer-behavior-end-user/3746/

Understanding Web Information Search Behavior: An Exploratory Model
www.irma-international.org/chapter/understanding-web-information-search-behavior/4459/

Perceived Control in Information Systems
www.irma-international.org/article/perceived-control-information-systems/3784/

The Importance of Ease of Use, Usefulness, and Trust to Online Consumers: An Examination of the Technology Acceptance Model with Older Consumers
www.irma-international.org/chapter/importance-ease-use-usefulness-trust/18163/