Online and Distance Learning: Concepts, Methodologies, Tools, and Applications

Lawrence Tomei
Robert Morris University, USA
Related Content

Student Success in a University Introductory Networks and Telecommunications Course: Contributing Factors
www.irma-international.org/article/student-success-university-introductory-networks/2365/

Distance Education Associations
www.irma-international.org/chapter/distance-education-associations/12165/

Using Indices of Student Satisfaction to Assess an MIS Program
Earl Chrysler and Stuart Van Auken (2008). Adapting Information and Communication Technologies for Effective Education (pp. 232-244).
www.irma-international.org/chapter/using-indices-student-satisfaction-assess/4209/

Using a User-Interactive QA System for Personalized E-Learning
www.irma-international.org/article/using-user-interactive-system-personalized/1726/

Design Research in the Elementary School Classroom
www.irma-international.org/chapter/design-research-elementary-school-classroom/12153/