Global Information Technologies: Concepts, Methodologies, Tools, and Applications

Felix B. Tan
Auckland University of Technology, New Zealand
Related Content

ERP Misfit-Reduction Strategies: A Moderated Model of System Modification and Organizational Adaptation www.irma-international.org/article/erp-misfit-reduction-strategies/73789

A Case Study of IT Chargeback in government Agency
www.irma-international.org/chapter/case-study-chargeback-government-agency/6299

Digital Governance and Democratization in the Arab World
www.irma-international.org/chapter/digital-governance-democratization-arab-world/19051

Computer Software in Developing Countries: A Case Study of CD. Juarez, Mexico
www.irma-international.org/article/computer-software-developing-countries/51271

Fotogenika.com: A Small Virtual Organization Serving the Mexican Market
www.irma-international.org/chapter/fotogenika-com-small-virtual-organization/18966